DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to the Amendment filed on 3/26/2009.
2. Claims 1-11 are currently pending in this application. Claim 1 has been amended. Claims 9-11 have been previously withdrawn as directed to a non-elected invention.
3. In view of the Amendment, the previous rejection has been withdrawn.
4. In light of newly found prior art, the claims are now rejected as set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Audsley et al. (US Pat. 4,929,403).

Audsley discloses a mold used to cast duplicate reproductions of an object. The mold is formed from a radiatively curable molding composition, the composition comprising at least a urethane oligomer; at least one reactive monomer; a photoinitiator, a plasticizer, and a surfactant; the amounts of which read on the presently claimed ranges (see abstract; Examples). In another embodiment, the reference discloses the materials used in the mold including urethane, acrylics, silicones in a ratio that reads on the presently claimed ranges (see col. 12, ln. 38-44).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have employed all the chemical components including silicone in the compositions presented in the

Examples of the reference or including a photoinitiator in the embodiment presented in col. 12 of the reference. Silicones are effective release agents and adding them into the composition would help separating the mold from the object easily. The use of a photoinitiator would enhance photosensitivity of the composition.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
